

The Voldemortian Beijing Regime's Sopranos-style Diplomacy

by Jacob Kovalio ©

Motto no. 1: "China's....diplomatic style is distinctly belligerent, which has been the case for a number of years now." Mark Harrison, senior researcher in Chinese Studies, University of Tasmania, 2020; emphasis added.

Motto no. 2 : "Boy, [Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau] your greatest achievement is to have ruined the friendly relations between China and Canada, and have turned Canada into a running dog of the US." Li Yang- Xi Beijing's wolf-warrior diplomat in Sao Paulo [Brazil] using a communist insult ["running dog"] against the Canadian leader; emphasis added.

Motto no. 3 : "We treat our friends with fine wine but for our enemies we have shotguns." Gui Congyou, Xi Beijing's wolf-warrior diplomat in Sweden in reaction to a 2019 decision by PEN, the international writers group, to honour a Hong Kong-based bookseller who had been kidnapped by the lawless Beijing Regime; emphasis added.

In early June 2021 international media reported that Chinese Strongman Xi Jinping had ordered his sprawling global propaganda machine to start a campaign aimed at creating a "lovable" public image for his regime among democratic nations !!!! It remains to be seen what kind of lipstick the CCP espionage squads and Beijing's appeasing and adoring supporters in democratic nations will use to make the ghastly Regime look better. The gross behaviour of Xi's rowdy and crass diplomatic representatives – the subject of this piece- seems to have backfired. The Despot tried a similar – equally crass, insensitive and ignorant - trick on Japan in 2018, but failed dismally; this one must not be allowed to succeed either. This is not an easy task since it is an undeniable fact that among his Asian (Pakistan, Iran, Cambodia, Laos, Sri Lanka etc.) African (Ethiopia, South Africa, Zambia, Malawi etc.) and Latin American (Cuba, Venezuela etc.) satrapies Xi Jinping is the role model of sorts to their own strongmen.

Beijing's growing economic and political clout in the past two decades (facilitated only by the politically blind, financially greedy and irresponsibly accommodating stance of the democracies) has found offensive expression in the supremacist and racist behaviour of its representatives in international and especially diplomatic forums. (mottos 1;2;3). The EU bureaucracy has branded the vulgar Bullying Beijing's envoys, Sopranos-style diplomats after the popular US gangster TV series. Recently, the ill manners of Beijing diplomats abroad are said to be inspired by a series of Regime-sponsored, ultra-nationalistic, anti-American, martial arts flicks launched in 2015, whose hero is Wolf Warrior (WW #2 poster below) – PLA [People's Liberation Army] special forces veteran, always victorious over "evil" Americans in Africa - Beijing's recent colonial turf.

Wang Yi, Bullying Beijing's Foreign Minister is encouraging the disgraceful manners of his underlings. While there is nothing wrong with Rambo-style, hyper-patriotic fictional flicks, uncouth behaviour of professional diplomats inspired by a jungle environment of Confucian- Fascist (see Dire History Repeated essay on this website) propaganda films should not be tolerated by any self-respecting nation hosting them. Given the deeply entrenched nature of millenary Confucian racism it is utterly unthinkable for Bullying Beijing to allow the making of the Chinese version of The Ugly American. Canada and Japan – like countless other nations- have been the targets of His Arrogance Wang Yi and his rowdy minions. At a press conference in Ottawa, in 2016, King Wang rudely chastised Canadian journalists for daring to ask him real questions. In November 2020 in Tokyo, Wolf Warrior Wang complained in public to his host, Japanese foreign minister Motegi of ...Japan’s territorial ‘intrusion’ in the Senkaku area!!!

Zhao Lijian (below) is the quintessential Xi Jinping “wolf warrior” in Western suit. He was the first Beijing foreign ministry spokesman to falsely accuse the US of being the source of the Wuhan Coronavirus in March 2020. At the time, Beijing’s envoy in Washington called the allegation “crazy.” The arrogant, bad-mouthed Zhao has constantly repeated the slur and is still on the job. It is ambassador Cui Tiankai who recanted and was replaced.

In Canada, before the brash Wolf Warrior Cong Peiwu – Xi’s present ambassador – notorious specimens of Chinese diplomatic thuggery included not one but “Two Lus” – the rude and racist (yet not reprimanded or kicked out, by self-disrespecting Ottawa) envoys Lu Shu-min and Lu Sha-ye. Latter Lu (below left) since 2019 has been doing his abusing in Paris which reprimanded him for posting racist lies on the embassy website about the French people and the Wuhan pandemic. Japan – frequently at the receiving end of Bullying Beijing’s (Pravda/Völkischer Beobachter/Xinhua/Jenmin Jibao-style) Global Times propaganda vehicle - was the subject of an even worse case of vile behaviour by an arrogant Beijing bully, before 2015. This indicates that overall, crass, racist language and manners are to be expected of any Xi Beijing diplomat of sorts, as demonstrated below.

Liu Xiaoming (above right), then Xi’s man in Britain- kicked off one of Beijing’s frequent crass global anti-Japanese propaganda campaigns in early January 2014 with a baseless and nasty opinion piece in the Daily Telegraph (“Japan- threat to global peace by rekindling militaristic spirit of World War Two”) in which he grossly misrepresented then Prime Minister Abe Shinzō’s defensive security policies as revanchist and militaristic. Liu also bashed the Japanese leader for praying at Yasukuni Shrine- the Shintoist, national (though privately-owned) memorial where the spirits of Japan's fallen soldiers since 1869 are enshrined. Since 1978 the remains of 14 top leaders of wartime Japan (hanged as war criminals by the Allies in 1948) are also interred at Yasukuni. The site also contains some controversial displays attempting to whitewash Imperial Japan's aggressive ways, a fact used by the country's Chinese and South Korean detractors as supposedly – and considering incontrovertible postwar facts, utterly falsely- indicating the country's present and future aggressive intentions.

China and South Korea started their joint attacks on Japanese leaders visiting Yasukuni only after 1982; the bashing intensified in the 21st century despite of the fact that no Japanese prime minister has ever expressed support for controversial elements and historical falsehoods (Beijing-style...) at Yasukuni. Prime Minister Koizumi (who like all other Japanese leaders apologized and tried repeatedly to make amends in different forms with Beijing and Seoul) rejected outright his neighbours' criticism on the Yasukuni issue which he saw as blunt interference in Japan's internal affairs, which it is. Due to the controversy it has caused, Japanese emperors stopped visiting Yasukuni in the late 1970s. Potential solutions to the problem - from transferring elsewhere the remains of the 14 wartime leaders to building a new national war memorial and others- have been futilely considered for decades.

For Liu, Japan under Abe Shinzō, embodied Lord Voldemort - the evil character in the Harry Potter series. Hayashi Keiichi- then Japan's ambassador to the UK- replied to his Chinese counterpart's crass diatribe with a dignified and factually solid editorial piece of his own in the same newspaper. Ambassador Hayashi most appropriately urged Liu to stop "invoking the ghost of [Japanese] militarism of seven decades ago which no longer exists." His overall message was poignant, and memorable: "East Asia is now at a crossroads. There are two paths open to China. One is to seek dialogue and abide by the rule of law. The other is to play the role of Voldemort in the region [and the world, JK] by letting loose the evil of an arms race and escalation of tensions, although Japan will not escalate the situation from its side. The answer seems obvious." The future proved the visionary quality of the Japanese diplomat's analysis and forecast: imperialist Xi Beijing (Xi Jinping's Beijing) fulfills daily ambassador Hayashi's and any peace-loving person's, worst fears.

Regarding the Yasukuni pilgrimage on December 26, 2013, for which Liu had bashed him, in fact Abe Shinzō had issued a statement titled "Pledge for Everlasting Peace" which contained the following excerpt:

I paid a visit to Yasukuni Shrine to pray for the souls of those who had fought for the country and made ultimate sacrifices... I have made a pledge never to wage war again, that we must build a world that is free from the sufferings of the devastation of war. Emphasis added.

In other words, like all his predecessors, Prime Minister Abe visited Yasukuni in order to pray for peace – for Japan and the world (the Chinreisha section of Yasukuni commemorates the souls of fallen soldiers of all nations) a statement that reflects most accurately Japan's international record since 1945 as a bastion of democracy, pacifism and prosperity particularly when compared with the domestically colonialist and genocidal cum rabidly imperialist Beijing Regime.

Furthermore, in an interview with a Chinese-language newspaper in Yokohama (a city with a large Chinese community) on the eve of the Chinese new year in January 2014, Abe stated that postwar Japan was "[re] built [as] a free and democratic country and taken the path of peace.. Nothing has been changed in the policy of continuing to uphold this position," which was and is, of course, true.

Nevertheless, as expected, Beijing, Seoul and their Leftist cohorts in the American and Japanese media and universities, continuing their relentless global anti-Japanese propaganda campaign, ignored the Japanese leader's constructive and reasonable messages and bashed him for the Yasukuni visit. Sasae Ken'ichirō – then Japan's ambassador to the United States- explained his nation's position on the issue in a dignified and professional manner in a media exchange with Cui Tiancai.

Ambassador Hayashi's impressive, dignified and widely publicized reply to Liu's crass rant, would have been even more powerful had it referred to Mao's aggressively expansionist policy, afflicting Xinjiang, Tibet, Korea, India, Vietnam and even the Soviet Union. Worse yet, domestically, any postwar nation whose (Communist) Dictator Founder was responsible for the death of at least 50 millions of his own people in grotesque schemes like the Great Leap Forward and the mad, self-serving "cultural" revolution but who has never been taken to task for them, whose awful crimes the people are forbidden from even mentioning decades after his death and instead, inspire his successors especially Xi Jinping – warrant crowning Mao Zedong the Supreme Voldemort of modern national leaders.

Furthermore, even a slightly broader inquiry reveals the mindboggling reality of totalitarian lawlessness, criminality and aggressiveness of the Beijing Regime whose unelected strongmen after Mao, turned it from Confucian- Communist (see my "Understanding Chinese Confu-Communism" online) to Confucian- Fascist today. Hua Guofeng, made boss by Mao, weeks before the dictator's death, came from the CCP's dreaded security apparatus, the regime's domestic espionage and dissident-disappearing machine, which today penetrates society to the local neighbourhood level. The willy Deng Xiaoping (who swiftly emasculated Hua after 1978) provoked a border war "to teach Vietnam a lesson" mainly for dislodging the regime of "mini Mao" Pol Pot, Beijing's protégé , who only murdered over two million fellow Cambodians. Domestically, Deng liquidated the Democracy Wall in 1980 and butchered the Tiananmen Square democracy movement in 1989, at the cost of thousands of innocent lives. Jiang Zemin, bossed in by Deng, launched the criminal system of forcible harvesting and selling of organs of tens of thousands of Falun Gong practitioners, an outrage courageously documented by Canadian researchers David Kilgour and David Matas (book below). The caption on the direction arrow at an entrance to Kashgar (Xinjiang) airport (right picture) reads: "Special Passengers: Human Organ Export Lane."

The inevitable question arises: has the ghastly forced organ harvesting and trade system victimizing the Falun Gong been extended to the Muslim Uyghurs in Xinjiang?

Strongman Hu Jintao launched the Sinification of Tibet (through a flood of Han-Chinese settlers, while rejecting the Dalai Lama's compromise of accepting Beijing's colonial rule in exchange for religious and cultural autonomy for Tibetans.) Historically, the most convincing but oddly overlooked proof that Tibet is completely different politically from China- thus not an integral part of the Chinese empire- is that Beijing represents a tradition where Religion has always been subservient to the State whereas Tibet's heritage is one where the Dalai Lama is both religious and political leader, JK]. Chinese soldiers manhandling an elderly protester in 1959 (left picture) and the self-immolation of a young Tibetan protester (in 2017 right picture) illustrate the sordid history of Chinese imperialism.

Xi Jinping's ever-growing record of inhumanity includes the Sinification campaign of millions of Muslim Uyghurs through re-education camps (picture below) and even by forcing them to "adopt" Han Chinese agents into their families (!!!)

Overall, Xi Jinping, using the latest technologies, has turned his empire into the world's top surveillance state- Regime software installed on private smartphones, a draconian social-credit system and hundreds of millions of surveillance cameras blanketing the country – here the political heart of the empire – Tiananmen Square . China's State Council proposed that a singular metric be designed that would be used to rank the trustworthiness of a Chinese citizen.

Eight private companies were granted contracts to build and deliver a proof-of-concept as to how a social credit system would be integrated and become mandatory by 2020.

Some of the world's biggest companies built algorithms. 10

ONE SUCH ALGORITHM LEADS THE REST:

SESAME SCORE™

Modelled on the FICO system, the Sesame Score is a metric developed by Ant Financial Services Group, an affiliate of the Chinese Alibaba Group.

The Sesame Score takes five sets of variables with varying opaque weightings to form a three digit number.

The first few factors start out like any standard credit score, but then things start to get weird.

In this context the wake-up call issued at the 2019 annual Davos conference by businessman and Open Society founder George Soros regarding the existential challenge of Xi Jinping totalitarianism carries potential relevance:

China is not the only authoritarian regime in the world but it is the wealthiest, strongest and technologically most advanced. This makes Xi Jinping the most dangerous opponent of open societies. That's why it's so important to distinguish Xi Jinping's policies from the aspirations of the Chinese people. The social credit system, if it became operational, would give Xi total control over the people. Since Xi is the most dangerous enemy of the open society, we must pin our hopes on the Chinese people, and especially on the business community and a political elite.

At this dark juncture, however, the Beijing Regime's domestic reality is one of a Mao-style Xi Jinping cult of pandemic proportions – his pictures and slogans flooding trains, streets and apps. The app in the picture below (left) requires the player to tap the screen as many times as possible in 18 seconds, which then turn into applause of support for Xi Jinping; the 10-part TV series "Carrying reform through to the end," celebrates Xi's "achievements," in education: disciplining students using face-recognition (picture below right).

An investigative report in the South China Morning Post in October 2019, drew a dark picture of the Orwellian atmosphere in the CCP-dominated education :

“Chill and fear pervade in Chinese classrooms as students are recruited to report teachers with ‘radical’ opinions. Some educators have been punished ...or reprimanded after discussing social issues such as the environment, gender equality and the death penalty.”

Beijing's arrogant, racist "diplomatic" corps has its counterpart in CCP media. Multimillionaire HU Xijin (picture below) past editor of Global Times was Xi's racist online attack dog serving his master in Der Stürmer/Pravda-Krokodil/Jenmin Jibao- style journalism.

Said Xi's Hu on Australia (for daring to stand up to reckless Chinese espionage, blackmail and brinkmanship culminating in the audacious demand that a professional international investigation of the Wuhan pandemic be launched): “Australia is always there, making trouble. It is like chewing gum stuck on the sole of China's shoes. Sometimes you have to find a stone to rub it off.” Hu deserves the Mahathir bin Mohamad prize for anti-Australian racism.

Xi Jinping has earned another feather in his dreadful cap, by deliberately not alerting his people and the world in timely fashion to the Wuhan virus - a crime which cost millions of non-Chinese and Chinese lives. The BIMPAT [Beijing/Islamabad/Moscow/Pyongyang/Ankara/Tehran] totalitarian Axis continues to shamelessly try to shift responsibility for the plague from China to the US and European nations. In conclusion, for their unmatched postwar record of murderous treatment of their own people and of the ethnic and religious minorities under their rule (especially Tibetans, Uyghurs, Kazakhs, Mongolians and Falun Gong) and their aggressively imperialist and colonialist foreign policy in the era of Asian and African decolonization (unless the colonizer is Chinese, Russian or Turkish...)- the Beijing Regime's top leaders constitute a veritable Voldemort Gallery.
